Guidelines for Authors

Your article must satisfy the following criteria:

- The presented research must be of relevance and fit to the topics of the special issue.
- The paper must contain new research or new insights compared to other published material.
- The main text should have at least 2000 words (without the list of references) and should not be longer than 5000 words.
- The paper must be well written. If your command of the English language is insufficient, please consult a native speaker to help you improve the manuscript.
- The literature cited must be up to date and include a substantial number of papers or books published in English. Websites should only be cited if unavoidable. For all references, complete bibliographic information must be provided.
- The template for special issues must be used and all requirements concerning layout and formatting must be satisfied.
- The style of citations and references must follow the APA7 Guidelines (examples are provided in the template). Please
- Conclusions must be consistent with the presented arguments and address the main question(s) posed.
- Tables or figures should only be included if they add to the paper. All images, tables, diagrams etc. must be created by the author(s), the only exception being images that were licensed under the terms of Creative Commons, if they are attributed appropriately.
- Copyright for the figures is owned by you or permission for reproduction is obtained. All articles are licensed under the Creative Commons CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license. Therefore, all images and graphics included must at least meet this criterion.

Before submitting the article, please check

- all bibliographic information for completeness and consistent citation style.
- all headings, subheadings etc. for correct numbering and formatting.
- the title page for correct formatting.